ARMY OF TROLLS

"We're a technology company. We're not a media company. When you think about a media company, you know, people are producing content, people are editing content, and that's not us. We're a technology company. We build tools. We do not produce the content. We exist to give you the tools to curate and have the experience that you want, to connect with the people and businesses and institutions in the world that you want."

The Head of State also received a special gift from UAF President Andriy Pavelko - a shirt from the new kit of the national team of Ukraine, which was so popular with all fans, with autographs of players and the coaching staff of the team led by Andriy Shevchenko. Zelenskiy was pleasantly surprised about the getting new kit of the national team.
